WELCOME HOME

These exceptional properties, built to the very highest standards, provide homes of character and substance that will be a joy to own and to live in. Our traditional qualities of housebuilding have stood the test of time and incorporate the convenience, style, sophistication, and low maintenance demanded by modern homeowners.

A WORLD FAMOUS LANDSCAPE

Experience living in the heart of The Stour Valley, a world renowned area of outstanding natural beauty.

East Bergholt is renowned as a cherished exemplar of the classic 'English Village' with its collection of grand houses and small cottages. Much of the landscape and infrastructure, together with many listed buildings in the locality have not changed in character since the early 19th century. Many of the classical rural views painted by celebrated artist John Constable, can still be seen today.

The East Bergholt Cross

In the architecture of our homes at Painters Place we have considered that the use of high-quality design and materials is integral to the acceptability of these homes within this historic village and the wider Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, adjacent to the conservation area and close to heritage assets.

Whilst externally the homes present a more traditional feel, internally they are distinctly modern; designed and finished to fit 21st century life, with a focus on flexibility, sustainability and ease.

INSPIRED BY THE PAST, BUILT FOR THE FUTURE

Q. What was the architectural thinking behind the design of the Painters Place?

The design approach of 10 'almshouse' style dwellings set around a central courtyard reflects a traditional approach. Detailing, such as the steeply pitched roofs, handmade clay tiles, decorative faux chimneys and bell tower, ornamental club tiles provide a highly pleasant, visually interesting roof form derived from distinctive architectural detailing

Q. How will the design reflect the local area?

These homes have been designed to take inspiration from the traditional Suffolk architecture and complement the local area. The homes will be constructed from a traditional range of materials with intricate design detailing. These materials include Anglian Stock bricks laid in Flemish bond, handmade clay tiles, decorative clay finial ridge tiles, white timber windows, doors, stone detailing, and decorative finishes as well as cast aluminium heritage rainwater goods.

Other traditional features include crafted joinery eaves, decorative barge boards, fascias, voussoir heads, sprocket detailing at eaves and entrance canopies. The resulting appearance is of a high-quality design.

Q. Do homeowners have their own private, outside space?

Each home benefits from private gardens, predominantly laid to lawn with Indian sandstone terraces and a sizable timber framed garden store. The rear boundaries are marked by woven, willow panel fencing with hardwood garden gates.

Each home will come with two parking bays and access to the communal bin and cycle store.

Q. What are the communal areas like?

A communal area of rest and reflection, to the rear of the site is accessed via a resin bound walkway with sensor lights. Overall, it will be left undisturbed with the inclusion of some wildflower planting and enhanced boundary planting.

The frontage of the development is expertly landscaped with park style railings erected along the Hadleigh Road with supplemental landscaping. In addition, piers either side of the entrance help enhance the sense of arrival, along with the grand resin bound driveway and parking court.

The central courtyard is defined by flush granite setts with a bound gravel surface.

BUILDING BEAUTIFUL HOMES IN THE FINEST TRADITIONS

INTERIORS

We take great care when designing our interiors to ensure a modern approach that reflects the latest styles but will also stand the test of time. We have selected premium appliances and sanitaryware and chosen stunning but functional floor finishes to complement the overall design. The layouts have been carefully considered to be practical but elegant.

Internal photography is of previous Rose developments.

BEAUTIFULLY PLACED

Impeccably designed inside and out, these exclusive new homes offer elegant living within a superior setting.

This charming collection of new homes benefits from extensive landscaped communal areas as well as existing mature trees and hedgerows, providing an attractive, established setting.

The traditionally influenced façades and thoughtfully planned interiors, coupled with a sophisticated specification and beautiful finishes, ensure these character homes will impress time and time again.
